BIENVENUE CHEZ LES ARVERNES

Meeting the legendary figures

Chacun de nos quatre lodges porte le nom d'une figure ayant marqué l'histoire du peuple arverne, qui domina cette région entre le II^e siècle avant notre ère et la conquête romaine. Within a 12 km radius, three major Arverne sites await: the oppida of Corent, de Gondole and the plateau of Gergovie — places where this history was written, stone by stone, that we invite you to explore during your stay.

A word from Franck

Your host

FAMILY ROOTS · SINCE 1924

Hello and welcome! Our family has been rooted in the village of Longues since 1924, when my grandfather Joseph Tavert, a non-commissioned officer and war veteran, came here with my grandmother Lucie to take up a reserved position at the newly opened Banque de France paper mill.

My mother, Edith Tavert Kloeckner (1929–2022), had a distinguished sporting career before becoming a basketball manager and being awarded the Légion d'honneur in 2009. My father, Jean Tavert (1920–1999), a quiet hero of the war, the Resistance and the Indochina campaign, was elevated to Officer of the Légion d'honneur in 1963.

Cent ans après l'arrivée de mes grands-parents, j'ai choisi de devenir le passeur de cette mémoire en installant, autour de la maison familiale et sans rien construire de nouveau dans ce parc arboré, les habitats légers que vous découvrez aujourd'hui. The boar coin on our family crest is no coincidence: forged in the Arverne era, it connects that warrior people to the values of courage, resistance and dedication to others that have driven our family across generations — from war veteran Joseph Tavert to our parents honoured with the Légion d'honneur. This guide is offered in that spirit.

Brennus

The warlord who shook Rome

SENONES · C. 390 BC

« Brennus » désigne moins un nom propre qu'un titre gaulois, proche du gallois brenin, « roi » ou « chef ». Celui que l'histoire retient prit la tête des Sénons, peuple installé autour de l'actuelle Sens, et écrasa l'armée romaine à la bataille de l'Allia avant de s'emparer d'une grande partie de Rome, qu'il occupa plusieurs mois. La tradition lui attribue le mot resté célèbre, Vae victis — « malheur aux vaincus » — lancé en jetant son épée dans la balance qui pesait la rançon de la ville.

No ancient source links him directly to the Arvernes: the lodge bears his name as a tribute to Gaulish resistance against Rome, of which the Arvernes would be, two centuries later, the ultimate spearhead.

Contemporary note: the Bouclier de Brennus (Brennus Shield) is awarded each year to France's Top 14 rugby champions.

Luern

The king of magnificence

ROI DES ARVERNES · IITH CENTURY BC

The first Arverne king history has remembered, Luern ruled over a territory at the height of its power, recognised as far as the Greeks of Marseille. His name, of pan-Celtic origin, may mean "fox" — echoed in Breton louarn and Welsh Ilywarn.

His legend rests on his magnificence: he would ride through the countryside throwing gold and silver to the crowds, and would enclose vast meadows where great vats of precious drinks and mountains of food remained open to all for days on end. This ritualised generosity, recorded by the Greek philosopher Posidonius, exemplifies the Gaulish ideal of kingship built on redistribution and honour.

Celttilos

Father of Vercingetorix

SUPREME CHIEF OF THE ARVERNES · C. 80-60 BC

Celttilos belonged to the highest Arverne aristocracy: he was the father of Vercingetorix, who would unite much of Gaul against Rome. Caesar records that he wielded overriding influence across the Arverne lands before being accused by his peers of seeking to restore the monarchy and being put to death.

His tragic end speaks volumes about the tensions tearing through Arverne society. The son avenged the father by taking up arms against Rome.

Rosmerta

The benevolent goddess

GODDESS OF ABUNDANCE · CONSORT OF MERCURY

Rosmerta — whose name means "the Great Provider" or "the Very Beneficent" — is one of the most venerated deities of Celtic Gaul. Consort of Mercury, she shares his attributes (caduceus, purse) while adding her own emblem: the cornucopia.

This association goes beyond juxtaposition: Mercury brings prosperity that Rosmerta nurtures into material well-being for households. Dedicatory inscriptions to her have been found across the Arverne territory, near ancient Augustonemetum — Clermont-Ferrand today.

A €450 deposit is taken at arrival as a PLBS bank pre-authorisation. Here is what this means:

No immediate charge. The amount is not debited from your account: it is simply reserved on your card and therefore unavailable for other spending during this period.

Automatic release. If everything is in order at the end of your stay (no damage, no extra charges), the pre-authorisation is cancelled and the €450 becomes immediately available again — no action required on your part.

In case of damage. If damage is found or additional charges arise, all or part of the deposit may then be charged to cover these costs.

This pre-authorisation simply protects the proper use of the equipment (spa, hot tub, furniture) and has no impact if your lodge is returned in good condition.

In the footsteps of the Arvernes

Dans un rayon de 12 km, trois sites majeurs du monde arverne sont accessibles : les oppidums de Corent et de Gondole, ainsi que le plateau et le musée de Gergovie — le lieu même où Vercingétorix, fils de Celtillus, infligea à Jules César sa seule grande défaite en Gaule, en 52 av. J.-C.

Nature & open spaces

The Via Allier long-distance cycle path starts right at the estate gate (Accueil Vélo label), following the Allier river for dozens of kilometres through unspoilt scenery. River walks, fishing, canoeing, trails around Puy Saint-Romain, and further afield the UNESCO-listed Puy de Dôme, Vulcania and the Volvic springs.

Villages of character

Vic-le-Comte, Plauzat, Montpeyroux, Saint-Saturnin — lanes, markets and local producers (wines, cheeses, honey, crafts).

Sports & events

Issoire and Charade motor racing circuits, Grande Halle and Zénith d'Auvergne for concerts and trade shows.

To book a discovery trail, ask at reception or visit lodges-auvergne.com/experiences.
